There is a new way to take care of yourself in balance with your body

What is the microbiome?

The human body is made up of 30 trillion cells that make up our organs and an equal number of microorganisms that inhabit the mucous membranes, our skin and our body, constituting what is known as the Human Microbiome. The microbiome is made up of microorganisms (microbiota) and their habitat (environment). It performs functions that we are not able to perform, and synthesises substances essential for our health and well-being.

The oral microbiome is made up of the oral microbiota and its environment, and constitutes the first line of defence against pathogenic infection.

Why is it so important to take care of our microbiome? When the ecosystem is in equilibrium (eubiosis) the organism is healthy. But when there is an imbalance (dysbiosis), certain pathogenic bacteria proliferate and diseases such as periodontitis, gingivitis or caries occur.

Balanced Oral Microbiome - EUBIOSIS

Unbalanced oral microbiome - DYSBIOSIS

Oral dysbiosis can also be implicated in other diseases such as cardiovascular, intestinal disorders, rheumatoid arthritis, Parkinson's disease, Alzheimer's, some cancers and premature childbirth, among others.

Our current lifestyle is the main reason for our microbiome not being in balance.
